Specification: Page 8

Please replace the paragraph on page 8, beginning on line 16, with the following paragraph:

Generally described, this embodiment invention includes the use of an S-Tile mold, combined with a scoring, knifing, and/or coloring process, which allows for an S-Tile to appear as two separate tile sections having a general C-shaped cross section, by use of a "simulation interface channel" 9. These tile sections having a general C-shaped cross section may also be known as "mission tiles".

Note for the record that the replaced paragraph is similar to the above replacement paragraph with the exception of the terms "and/or" versus "and or".
